My game plan at Parker Wood was to make two smooth runs. Smooth is fast, so that is always my goal--of course sometimes things don't go as planned. She anticipated the second barrel a little in the first round, mainly because it was much further across than usual; but by the second round she ran all the way up to her spot. Both of her runs were real nice but her run in the second round was flawless!! She never quit moving forward! I try and ride her a little more aggressive than others but not too aggressive. The smoother her turns are the faster she is and she's really quick between the barrels. When she does make a mistake I always tell myself to keep going, because I know she can have an 'oops' and still clock decent.

The ground at Parker Wood was good...not too deep and not hard. It's a nice place and well run futurity. Thank you to the sponsors who made it possible.

I ran GOD GIVEN FAME aka "Gigi" at the Fizz Bomb Futurity the week prior and it is a smaller setup compared to the Parker Wood futurity. I worked her slow during open arena just to make sure we were both comfortable and knew where things were. She loves to turn so I wasn't worried about that; I just wanted to make sure I didn't let her get to running so hard that she wasn't able to turn as well. She tries no matter what, but the smoother she is, the faster! She won second place. I gave her a few days to rest and turned her out in a pretty good size pen and just let her chill. I don't like them to be in stalls that long so I knew she would enjoy some time out.

Gigi is owned by Gail West and Michelle West Lance. Gail's good friend Deanna Stout owns her dam, Wilda. I'm not sure who broke her. I started her on the barrels in August (2016) of her three year old year. I broke my femur in a horse accident Feb 27th. I was planning on getting her and some other three-year-olds March 1st, but that put things on hold. So they waited for me to get well enough and then sent her to me when I was ready for her. We got a late start, but she wanted to turn the barrels from day one!

She is hard-headed, very strong-willed and smart. She would try to get away with some things as a baby but was mostly all bluff. If I corrected her and let it go, usually things would work out. I never had to "make" her want to do her job. Things came easy for her.

Compared to other horses in the past, she is a natural...show her something and she figures it out. Some horses take 2 steps forward and 10 steps back, but we never had that happen. She improved and made progress with every ride and every time I hauled her.

I keep my horses exercised regularly, working them during the week according to what they need at the time. I don't like to over-work them and burn them out on the pattern. When I have time I like to ride them out in the pasture and just let them enjoy themselves. I think the horses as well as the rider needs some relaxing time in the saddle. It's a job but it also needs to be enjoyable. I have my horses checked regularly to make sure they don't have any soundness issues and I keep a close eye on legs daily. Always try to make sure there are no changes in their behavior or something that could cause them to be uncomfortable. I want the horses to be happy and relaxed.

I use... magnetic blankets, Back on Track and ice their legs. I ride in a Lindz Sears Shiloh saddle with a Five Star saddle pad. My bit is a Dave Elliot Spur Up 02 shank with a Mullen mouth. I feed Nutrena Perform and alfalfa cubes.

I am married to Jody Brown and we live in Mount Pleasant, TX. I enjoy riding the young horses and watching them grow mentally and physically. It's neat to see them from start to finish. My first real experience with a futurity horse was in 2006 with my horse, Perks Advantage aka "Willie". He taught me a lot and gave me a great introduction to the futurity world. I have learned a lot since that year and still learn something new every day!! The horses will keep you thinking and wanting to be better.

Goals ~ To be successful and keep improving. The BFA futurity and Fort Smith have always been on my list of goals I would like to accomplish. My goal with a horse is to make one that lasts and enjoys its job.

Advice to younger riders ~ Work hard (it does pay off eventually) and keep your horses' best interest at heart. Remember that the horses are not a machine; they have needs and, as cheesy as it sounds, feelings. I compare my barn of horses to a classroom full of kids--they all learn differently and catch onto things at different rates. Some are mature enough to make futurity horses, some aren't; and even if they don't make a great 4 year old, it doesn't mean their life is over. Teach that horse the best you can and focus on the positives.

Thank you to my husband, Jody Brown and to Madison McCaffity for taking care of things at home when I am away and for always being so helpful when I am home. My mom, Paula Owens who taught me to ride and always made sure I had something to ride. She would put me on all kinds of horses and I had to figure things out!!! Thanks you to my sponsors: Formula 707, Horse Logic Professionals and Lindz Sears Saddles. Thank you to all the owners who trust me with their horses. I know they have choices and I appreciate all of them

Janna

STEFANIE DUKE & SR GODIVA

Schiller Ranch purchased an embryo from Heath Boucher from his great mare, Famous Silk Panties. Schiller bred Famous Silk Panties to PYC Paint Your Wagon. The resulting foal was SR Godiva. As a yearling, Schiller consigned her to the Texas Best Sale where Heath Boucher purchased her. Heath had Paul Martin run her on the racetrack as a 2 yr old, where she won her very first out and ran a SI 87. Heath gave her the winter off and sent her to me in March of her 3 yr old year. I legged her back up and started her on the pattern. We purchased her from Heath around the 1st of May this year.

She has been as easy as they come to train on barrels. I think most anyone could have trained her. She is very kind, wants to please and she's fast!

She did have a couple bad slips at the 1st barrel at a futurity earlier in the year and she lost her confidence at the 1st barrel. She started missing the first and just not committing to it like she always had. My husband kept me from panicking about it and just kept telling me to be patient and wait on her...keep doing my slow work and she'll get her confidence back.

On Godiva I use a Martin BTR saddle, Elliott Bit, BOT, Adequan, Finish First supplement, Equipulmin, and Gastrogard when needed. I feed alfalfa mix, Omolene 200 & Oats.

Her Record:

3rd - BFA Juvenile Futurity
2nd - Future Fortunes Sired Slots
1st - 1st go round Panty Raid Futurity
2nd - Old Fort Days Futurity
1st - 1st go round IBRA Indiana State Finals
5th - IBRA Indiana State Finals
1st - 43rd Annual Indiana Barrel Futurity
Lifetime Earnings: $61,400

The IBRF is the oldest existing (longest running) Futurity in the USA and Canada! Raymond and Vickie Duke and Jeanette Smith (1st women east of the Mississippi to go to the NFR) went to their very first Futurity in Fort Worth, TX in the early 1970's. They came home from that Futurity and decided to put a Futurity on in Indiana, starting the IBRF.

The IBRF entries were up this year in every class. We are excited about that and hope to add more $$$ next year. We also hope to add another major event to the show next year. Hope to announce something on this by January 2018.

My goal for the weekend was to just make some nice, clean, consistent runs and let it fall where it was going to fall. It was a busy weekend with trying to help my in-laws (Raymond & Vickie Duke) and the IBRF committee and also help my husband keep up with my 3 yr old twin boys and ride the horses. I do want to thank Raymond Duke for letting me ride his 5 yr old that weekend. Running his horse helped me get my confidence and get comfortable with my approach to the 1st barrel in this arena. It really helps to make a run or two down the alleyway before I run my only futurity horse. So Thank You Raymond!

Best advice for young barrel racers...

Read the book, "Mind Gym" by Gary Mack. The mental aspect of Barrel Racing is very important and I wish I had read this book when I was younger.

Big Thank You to my family and my boys! Having our boys always reminds Chris and me what's most important in life. We are blessed. Thanks to my mom, Rebecca Stimax; my husband, Chris Duke and Raymond and Vickie Duke (my in-laws) for all their help and support.

3rd Annual PERFORMANCE HORSE SALE

August 26, 2017

by Larry Larson

Combining legendary bloodlines – already proven on the racetrack and in the performance and rodeo arenas – and adding years of building strong reputations led up to one of the top Quarter Horse Arena Prospect sales in the Nation for 2017. Combining forces, the 3rd Annual Myers Ranch/Copper Spring Ranch Performance Horse Sale was presented on Saturday, August 26th at the CSR Arena in Bozeman, Montana.

Copper Spring Ranch, a state-of-the-art facility located on the south edge of Bozeman, is owned by Karen Gilhousen and presented a strong offering of 2-Year-Olds in 2017 along with two yearling stallions. Managers Brian & Lisa Anderson oversee the daily ranch operations along with Dr. Chris Ray who operates his Ray Equine Service @ CSR situated onsite at the ranch. The ranch stands Prime Talent SI 107, one of the fastest son's of World Champion Sire Corona Cartel SI 97. A Stakes Winner of $101,614, he is the sire of multiple AAAT runners with Speed Indexes of 100-121, Progeny Earnings of $1.6+ Million and now also producing winners in the Barrel Racing pen. Copper Spring Ranch recently added the proven sire Furyofthewind SI 96 to their stallion battery. With LTE of $70,554, he has Progeny Earnings of $5.8 Million as well as siring a BFA Year-End Futurity Champion and 2017 Old Fort Day Super Derby Finalist. New to their program in 2017 is the addition of the gray stallion Firewater Canyon. Sired by World Champion Producer & NFR Qualifier sire Fire Water Flit, he is out of the Multiple NFR Go-Round Winner and Barrel Futurity & Derby Champion Mulberry Canyon Moon with $400,000+ in Rodeo & EquiStat Earnings.

That proven reputation, tacked onto many years of selective breeding, set the stage as the Nation's #1 Two-Year-Old Program, Myers Performance Horses, offered another outstanding group of arena prospects in 2017. Owned by Bill & Deb Myers and their sons Chad, Billy, Brandon and Brady, their breeding and training operation is situated in a picturesque area of the Black Hills between Spearfish and St. Onge, South Dakota. They are home to Leading Sire Frenchmans Guy, the still vibrant 30-year-old sire of earners now exceeding the $11 Million mark. He is joined in the breeding shed by a proven son, A Smooth Guy, and Cowboys Cartel, a AAA runner sired by Corona Cartel SI 97. Young stallions currently being introduced into their program include three Frenchmans Guy sons - Ima Special Kindaguy, This Guyz A Keeper and Mr Sassy Frenchman. They are excited to now be adding the 2015 Buckskin Stallion Lucky Wonder Horse as a strong outcross on their program mares. A son of First Down Dash SI 105, he is out of 2017 Barrel Racing Money Earner Rosas Cantina CC. The buckskin daughter of Corona Cartel SI 97, currently being campaigned by Lisa Lockhart, has Lifetime Earnings of $35,000+ to date and is out of an NFR Qualifying daughter of Dash Ta Fame SI 113 with LTE of $150,000+.

THE EYE OF A HORSE

HorseCoursesOnline.com

838 Georg Oaks

Bulverde, TX 78163

Eleanor Blazer

602.689.6171

elblazer@horsecoursesonline.com

Does your horse have a feather in the eye, a glass eye, a pig eye, a pop eye, a smoky eye or a walleye?

The equine eye is unique. They have both monocular and binocular vision. The horse uses monocular vision to view separate things with each eye at the same time. These objects are to the side and rear of the horse. Binocular vision, for the horse, is frontal vision, and when using it the horse concentrates both eyes on the same object. (To know where a horse is looking, look at his ears. A horse is looking where his ears are pointing, whether together or separately.)

The horse can see to the front, the side and the rear. In fact, he has a field of vision of up to 300 degrees. But his wide-angle vision may adversely influence his ability to learn or the level of his intelligence, or both. Large eyes, set well out to the side of the head have always been considered a mark of quality in the horse. And while the horse should have large eyes, having the eyes placed too far to the side may be a handicap--from a learning point of view.

The farther out the eyes are placed on the side of the head, the more the horse must concentrate to achieve frontal vision. Distractions limit his ability to concentrate, which in turn makes him slower to learn, or, as some might say, less intelligent. On learning ability scales, animals that have only frontal vision generally rate higher than animals with monocular vision. But this is only one of the horse's vision-related limitations.

Research has shown the horse can see limited color variations. Horses have two different classes of cone cells (dichromatic) – blue and yellow (they lack the red cone cells). Two different cone cells is the minimum number required for some color vision. Humans normally have three different cone cells (trichromatic). Humans who lack the red cone cells are considered “color blind”.

The horse's eye does not focus well on objects that are closer than four feet, and when a horse has his head high in the air, he cannot see the ground in front of him. And while the horse has a wide field of vision, he does have two blind spots. They are close to his face, directly in front of him; and the width of his body, directly behind him. These blind spots are the cause of many problems for both horse and man. (We are usually in one of those spots when we get bumped by the horse's head or kicked.) The horse must be able to move his head to focus on objects in front and directly behind him.

All the special advantages and limitations of the horse's vision have a great deal to do with the way the horse behaves. Imagine the riding horse that is not allowed to move his head out of position – he is, in essence, blinded by the rider. Or just imagine what a young horse sees the first time he is taken on a trail ride or to a horse show! There is the excitement of a strange place, cars, motorcycles, people, noises and all sorts of unknown objects. Moreover, at any one time there is always something happening on each side of the horse. In many cases, the action isn't in focus, and even if it were, the horse wouldn't understand it. To see what is going on in front of him the horse must concentrate his full attention straight ahead, but how can he do that when there is so much new and interesting to see on each side of him?

Seeing is certainly disbelieving for the young horse. He must be asking himself, “Why would my partner put me in such an incomprehensible world?” Can you blame him for being a little flighty? Most of us do, and consequently try to jerk, spank or force him into being calm when he is upset. Such action will not work. Only understanding how the horse sees will help.

Continue Horse Eyes...

Now take a peek at some other eye-openers...A "feather in his eye" refers to a visible blemish on the eye. The blemish may be the result of an injury or a natural defect. In either case, it is considered a fault. A glass eye lacks color and may be the cause for disqualification by some breed registries. A pig eye is a small squinty eye, and a horse that has pig eyes is generally considered stubborn and hard to handle. A pop eye is the opposite of pig eye; it is the description given to an eye that seems to be too large and protruding from the head. A smoky eye is an eye that is cloudy in color, almost smoke gray. A walleye is another term for an eye without color and is sometimes referred to as a China eye.

This Guyz A KEEPER

2012 Palomino Stallion

2017 FEE: $1,500

"This young stallion has a lot of bone, substance and frame. He will mature to be a big horse but he is still very athletic. A naturally kind disposition. His 2nd Dam was one of THREE BARS best daughters - as close to Three Bars as you can get today! We think he will be a great addition to our stallion lineup."

ACORNS

THE WAY OF HORSES

By Eleanor Blazer

©2017

Does your horse eat like a pig? Yes! Then acorns are one porcine delicacy he should avoid.

Acorns are seeds or nuts produced by oak trees. There are more than 60 varieties of oaks in the continental United States. The bark, leaves and acorns contain an acidic chemical commonly known as tannin. Tannin has a bitter taste and is an astringent (contracts tissues and draws out fluids). It can damage the liver and kidneys of horses. Tannin also interferes with the utilization of protein.

All plants contain some level of tannin. Oaks contain high levels. Within the family of oaks, red or black oak varieties contain the most tannin; white oak varieties contain the least. Buds and early spring leaves have a higher concentration of tannin than mature leaves. Green acorns have a higher concentration than ripe acorns.

Squirrels, birds and deer eat acorns with no apparent problems. These free roaming species search out the less bitter tasting acorn varieties (less bitter means a lower tannin level). Stored and ripe acorns that have been soaked due to rain will also be lower in tannin. Tannin is water soluble and leaches out. It is important to note these animals have access to other foods which will help buffer and dilute the tannin.

Poisoning due to the ingestion of acorns is rare in horses which have access to plenty of good quality forage. An occasional acorn throughout the day should not harm a healthy horse with a digestive system full of long-stem fiber.

The ingestion of buds and spring leaves should be avoided. Make sure low hanging or broken branches are removed before they can be eaten. Providing plenty of forage will help deter horses from eating these forbidden windfalls.

Occasionally a horse will develop a taste for acorns. Such an individual would rather eat acorns than good quality forage. If your horse is one of these fanatics you will have to remove the horse from the pasture which contains the forbidden nut.

The signs of acorn poisoning can be: loss of appetite, excessive salivation and blood in the urine or manure, colic-like pain, slow or irregular heart-rate, elevated temperature, pale mucous membranes, watery eyes and a depressed attitude. In the early stages manure is hard and dark in color; the horse may be constipated. Often, in the later stage, the manure changes to diarrhea. Mouth ulcers may form; saliva may escape from the nose. In extreme cases liver and kidney failure ensues and other organs begin to hemorrhage. Some poisoned horses may develop laminitis.

In addition to the toxins created by the tannin in the acorns, there may be toxins released into the horse's system due to the sudden introduction of a "new feed". When the balanced microbial population in the large intestine is disrupted by the sudden introduction of different feeds laminitis often results. Large numbers of beneficial bacteria die and poisonous endotoxins are released into the bloodstream. Blood flow to the hoof is restricted and the connective tissue (the laminae) between the hoof wall and coffin bone begins to die. If the inflammation is prolonged the coffin bone will rotate downward. The rotation of the coffin bone results in a condition called founder.

Horses that are extremely sensitive to tannin or have eaten large quantities of oak leaves, bark or acorns may die. If your horse develops acorn poisoning there is no antidote. The common treatment is supportive care. The affected horse must be removed from the source of the poisoning. Your veterinarian will probably give intravenous fluids to help flush out the toxins. Mineral oil and charcoal may be given to help rid the digestive system of the tannin. Hay and water is made available, which also helps dilute the poisonous material in the digestive system. Your veterinarian may also give pain killers to help make your horse more comfortable.

The best thing for the health of your horses and trees is to protect them from each other. Horses are hard on trees. They disturb the root system, chew the bark when bored and rub the branches. Forests or woods do not make good pasture. Fence off any trees. If the trees are providing shelter or shade, erect a horse-safe structure such as a three-sided loafing shed.

There is nothing more beautiful than a majestic oak tree and a horse – they just shouldn't be in the same picture.
